Wanda Gangel

Wanda Gangel graduated from Farmingdale College with a degree in Advertising Art and Design. She began collaborating with artist Geoffrey Gangel in 1982 and perfected her airbrush art techniques at his studio in West Babylon NY. During this same period she worked with world-renowned glass carver John Garofalo and as a result, added glass etching and carving techniques to her rapidly growing list of artistic skills.

Wanda married Geoffrey Gangel in 1986, and the couple moved to Narrowsburg NY in 1997 where they are currently committing their time and energies to creative endeavors and expanding their artistic horizons. To that end they participate in many community projects and offer their talents and services to a wide audience.
